

ASK AN EXPERT TO VISIT

Art and Antiques Valuations in the Comfort of your own Home

Olympia Auctions has launched a free home visits service for residents of North and North-West London. Suzanne Zack, a leading picture expert at Olympia Auctions is expanding her role to serve as Olympia Auctions' dedicated representative in this part of London.

Suzanne brings decades of experience and deep expertise in art and antiques to your doorstep. Having lived in North London for most of her life, she has a strong affinity with the area and is known to many both personally and as a trusted and familiar face on the Antiques Roadshow.

Suzanne said: "I always enjoy meeting clients in their homes and seeing their art or collections in situ. We can take time to talk about how each piece was acquired and the history behind it. Usually, we will go around together looking at everything to get an overview. Then we'll discuss the options depending on what the client requires. This may be a valuation for the current auction market or for insurance or probate purposes. If you're looking to sell, I can advise on the most appropriate sales for particular works.

Suzanne Zack has over 30 years' experience in the international art market. During her career she has uncovered many exciting works including a pair of previously unpublished pen and ink sketches by John Constable with provenance from the collection of the great drawings expert Leonard Duke in the 1950's.

Suzanne commented: "It is always exciting when going through a client's possessions, particularly those that have been kept in the family for generations, to discover works that may have been bought for very little and are now highly sought after."

A recent example of this was the collection of over 350 unframed 18th century drawings and watercolours kept in storage boxes under a bed for 60 years. These had belonged to Iolo Williams, writer and collector, and were kept by his grandson. Unseen on the art market for generations, they captured the imagination of a new generation of collectors when they were offered as a single owner sale. Over 90% of the lots sold, with the total well over the top estimate.

In addition to picture valuations, Suzanne would be delighted to assist with valuations of jewellery and watches, ceramics and silver, Chinese, Japanese, Indian and Islamic works of art and arms and armour which she will refer to the team of specialists at Olympia Auctions. (Olympia Auctions does not sell furniture but offers a referral advice, and when required, details of our preferred house clearance companies.)

Suzanne Zack concluded: “The most important thing about my home visits is that they are free, discreet, personal and with no obligation. I will be delighted to meet you and will enjoy looking at whatever you wish to show me.”

Thomas Del Mar, Olympia Auctions founder and CEO said: “If you do decide to sell, you can be sure your art or antiques will be properly examined and catalogued by Suzanne or her colleagues, all top experts in their fields. We will guide you through the process to make it easy and enjoyable”.
